WITHOUT HISTORY, THERE WOULD BE NO FUTURE

Welcome to World Civilizations

with Nichole Spencer

The World Civilizations course is a comprehensive and demanding study of the human experience from the emergence of early civilizations through the Renaissance to the world of today. Students will be able to trace developments in economic and political systems, examine how the geography of the world influenced development, and explore how the world has emerged with such diverse cultures. At the end of this course students should have a better understanding of the complex issues and global interactions that face leaders and citizens today.

Students will cultivate writing, critical reasoning, effective reading, collaborative, and analytical skills. I have high expectations for those enrolled in this course. Self-discipline and doing one's very best is imperative.

During the first semester we'll be covering:

Unit	Title	Key Topics & Assignments
1	Early Civilizations	Prehistory & the emergence of human civilization. Introduction to world religions
2	Classical Times	Classical Greece & Rome and the dawning of modern government & law
3	The First Global Age	Early empires in Europe & Asia and the rise of the Middle Ages
4	Exploration & Expansion	Renaissance & Reformation, the age of exploration & creation of new empires

Portfolios

As part of their NUAMES graduation requirements, students are required to create a portfolio. In preparation, I have students build a portfolio over the course of each year so that they have the skills and documents necessary for their senior capstone portfolio. Each term students will be asked to showcase the skills and assignments they enjoyed and did well on during the term. Instructions will be provided each term for specific requirements. Please help encourage your students to keep & organize their work to facilitate this assignment.

About Me

My name is Nichole Spencer. I graduated from the University of Utah with a Bachelor's Degree in History and a Master's of Arts Degree in Teaching. This will be my fourth year teaching at NUAMES and I'm so happy to be a part of the NUAMES family! While I obviously love history, I also recognize that not everyone shares my passion. That being said, I truly believe that studying history is important for everyone, not only for the lessons that can be learned but especially because of the skills it develops—critical thinking, analysis, recognizing perspective and bias, etc. These are some of the things I hope to teach your students as we move our way through different civilizations and historical events this year.

Expectations

Classroom Policies

Just so that you are aware, I expect the following from my students:

1. Show RESPECT to Mrs. Spencer, classmates, yourself, and the facility.
2. Come PREPARED to class every day.
3. Electronic devices must remain silenced and out of hand in class. If caught using them inappropriately, I have a "1...2...3...it's out" policy. First is a warning, second I'll confiscate the item and keep it until the end of class. Third time, the item will be given to the administration and parents notified.
4. I have a ZERO TOLERANCE policy for plagiarism and cheating. This means that if caught, students receive an automatic zero for the assignment, you will be notified, and additional disciplinary actions may be taken.
5. Most importantly, students should do their best and keep a POSITIVE attitude.

 I also retain the right to amend this list as needed.

Absences

Although absences due to sickness are unavoidable, please try to encourage and ensure that your student is in class consistently. Too many absences or tardies tends to take a toll on the academic workload and can add undue stress to students.

When absences occur, please help ensure that you clear them with the office, as unexcused absences may forfeit the school policy for make-up work and will hurt their citizenship grade. Also, keep in mind the new school attendance policy regarding what constitutes excessive absences/tardies. (See the Student Handbook for details)

Extra Credit

Extra credit is offered every term. It is up to students to choose how much, if any, extra credit to do. Check the class website to see what possible options there are for each term as well as all associated due dates.

Required Materials

Portfolio

- 3-ring binder (usually 1-1.5 inch)
- Set of 5-dividers (can be made or bought)

C	70-79%	N	11-15
D	60-69%	U	0-10
F	0-59%

 +/- grades not shown—see student syllabus for full details

Academic

Term grades will consist of:

- Assignments 30%
- Projects 25%
- Quizzes & Tests 25%
- Participation 20%

Within each category, grades are based on a point system that will vary from assignment to assignment.

Rubrics will be provided for larger projects so that students can see the total point value as well as the breakdown for associated smaller assignments/pieces. Grades are not rounded up in this class and are only changed when the teacher has made an error. Mrs. Spencer needs to be notified by mid-term after the term in question or by the end of June for the fourth term in order to make any changes.

Citizenship

Because I believe in being an active and engaged citizen in whatever community you are a part of, a student's citizenship grade can also affect their participation grade.

Students begin each quarter with 25/25 citizenship points. Students can gain points for contributing to a positive classroom experience and providing extra assistance during class activities. It is entirely possible to earn more than 25 points in a term which then becomes extra credit. Vice versa, students can also lose citizenship points for violating classroom policies, or disruptive behavior such as being tardy to class (1pts/tardy) or lack of participation including having unexcused absences (3pts/absence). All other infractions or additions will be determined by Mrs. Spencer according to situation.

Syllabus Sign-Off

After reviewing this with your student, please complete the syllabus sign-off form found on the class website. This is an assignment, so please do so before next class.
